GREEN FOR GOOD: THE GLEN TOWN CENTER AND GLENVIEW SUPPORT EARTH DAY

A Month of Events and Activities Encompass an Earth-friendly Celebration

Glenview, IL -- The Glen Town Center along with Kohl Children's Museum, Glenview Park District, Glenview Public Library, Whole Foods Market, Tyner Center/Air Station, Kim & Scott's Twisting Café and WICKED begin an eco-focused month of inspirational and educational events, counting down to the 28th anniversary of Earth Day in its inaugural Green for Good campaign geared for the public to participate in and enjoy.

Beginning March 22 through April 30, Green for Good events and activities will be held throughout Glenview in three central locations: The Glen, Kohl Children's Museum and Glenview Public Library. The official 28th annual Earth Day is April 22.

"We want to help support the entire North Shore area in making a real impact on our community by discovering how easy – and fun - it is to do something good for the world, right down to our own neighborhood," stated Shannon Ridgeway,

About The Glen Town Center

The Glen is home to more than 50 specialty retailers, services, and restaurants carefully selected to collectively offer an elite, world-class experience to visitors. Anchor stores for the center include Von Maur, Dick's Sporting Goods, Kerasotes Glen-10 Theatres, ULTA Salon, Cosmetics and Fragrance and The Book Market at Hangar One. The center also features 183 apartments and 153 four-story brick town homes. The tree-lined streets and magnificent architecture, coupled with wide walkways and inviting parks, make The Glen Town Center the most talked about town on the North Shore. Located just 20 minutes north of Chicago, The Glen is easy to find, located just one mile west of Waukegan Road, between Lake Avenue and Willow Road in Glenview: turn onto Patriot Boulevard, and enter on Tower Drive.
